ORGANIZATION PROFILE

October 2026

Addressing the climate crisis requires urgent and coordinated action. Each person has a meaningful role in supporting sustainable practices, while governments, civil society organizations, and communities must collaborate to design and implement effective solutions. These efforts can include reforestation, blue carbon initiatives, public education campaigns, and the creation of policies that prioritize sustainability steps that are essential for protecting our environment.

While systemic change is crucial, everyday actions from individuals also matter. Through community cooperation and shared responsibility, small steps like reducing waste, conserving resources, living mindfully, and advocating for environmental protection can create a ripple effect that strengthens broader climate efforts. When people work together, these individual contributions build powerful momentum toward a healthier, more sustainable future for all living beings on our planet.

As a concrete step and solution, Seasoldier carries out programs that are closely aligned with several points of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The SDGs provide a historic opportunity to unite all global stakeholders in ending extreme poverty, combating inequality and injustice, and protecting our planet.

OUR ORGANIZATION

Seasoldier is an independent organization that began as a personal initiative driven by a deep concern for the environment. The movement was first founded by Nadine Chandrawinata and Dinni Septianingrum on March 28, 2015.

Today, Seasoldier has 23,927 volunteers across 21 regions throughout Indonesia, carrying out real and sustainable environmental actions. The organization has also partnered with more than 149 different institutions and organizations. Seasoldier currently manages 43 conservation sites, including tree conservation, mangrove conservation, seagrass conservation, and coral transplantation. Seasoldier also runs various programs such as Seasoldier Junior (educational programs), Managed Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR), clean-up initiatives, ecobrick training, Pondok Pemuda (a sustainability-focused youth camp), and Bersihkan Warungku (a one-year waste management mentorship program for SMEs), among other initiatives.

BERSIHKAN WARUNGKU

Bersihkan Warungku program aims to encourage the community to start sorting waste in the simplest way separating organic from inorganic while introducing the role of recycling and waste banks, so that less waste ends up in landfills. This initiative offers one of the solutions for waste management while also helping increase community income.

#SEASOLDIER

PONDOK PEMUDA

The Pondok Pemuda Youth Summit is a critical moment to share experiences and solutions that will inspire and support young people to take an active role in planet recovery efforts within their communities and beyond. Participants will also learn about leadership, environment, campaigning, and more.

TREE CONSERVATION

Tree conservation is essential for people, biodiversity, and climate change mitigation. Seasoldier's Conservation Team starts with site assessment, followed by natural regeneration and reforestation, community involvement, partner awareness sessions, and planting trees suited to the local habitat or economically valuable species that do not require cutting (e.g., fruit, resin), along with at least one year of monitoring to ensure the trees grow and thrive sustainably.

MANGROVE CONSERVATION

Seedling, Planting, Maintenance

Mangrove conservation is vital for people, nature, and climate change mitigation. Seasoldier's Conservation Team begins with site assessment, followed by natural seedling growth, community involvement, partner awareness sessions, planting with proven methods suited to the location, and at least one year of monitoring to ensure the mangroves thrive naturally.

SEAGRASS CONSERVATION

Seagrass conservation is vital for people, marine biodiversity, and climate change mitigation. Seasoldier's Conservation Team starts with site assessment, followed by natural regeneration and restoration, community involvement, partner awareness sessions, and planting seagrass species suited to the local habitat, along with at least one year of monitoring to ensure the meadows grow and thrive sustainably.

CORAL CONSERVATION

Coral conservation is vital for people, marine biodiversity, and climate change mitigation. Seasoldier's Conservation Team starts with site assessment, followed by coral transplantation and reef restoration, community involvement, partner awareness sessions, and planting coral species suited to the local habitat, along with at least one year of monitoring to ensure the reefs grow and thrive sustainably.

SEASOLDIER CLEAN UP

Clean up initiatives start with education about waste and its impact on the environment and humans. The goal of clean up activities is to raise awareness among participants and the surrounding community, encouraging them to care and take small actions individually, these programs are usually accompanied by waste management initiatives such as creating ecobricks, processing eco enzymes, and other similar activities. Together with Seasoldier, we can clean up beaches, underwater areas (diving), rivers, streets, and more.

#SEASOLDIER

SEASOLDIER TRAINING CENTER

Seasoldier Training Center is a training program that combines classroom learning with hands on field practice, where participants study concepts, guidelines, and technical skills comprehensively, enabling them to gain strong understanding and practical experience, and upon completion receive a certificate as proof of graduation.

#SEASOLDIER

SEASOLDIER XPERIENCE

Seasoldier Xperience – Seasoldier Locale Voyage is an eco-friendly experiential journey where participants explore a destination through local cuisine, historical and cultural heritage, learn about or actively participate in environmental conservation, and discover new places while engaging with local communities. As Indonesia is home to some of the world's most beautiful destinations, this journey encourages travelers not only to experience them but also to help protect and preserve them.
